CYBER SAFETY LAWS AND PROVISIONS

Dear Parents

We have shared a code of conduct for students during online classes as some of them have been reportedly engaging themselves in unethical behaviour .

Students found violating basic netiquettes are liable to be suspended from subsequent online classes.

Few examples of law breaking are as follows

1. Faking Name/ Identity punishable under section 66D of IT Act
2. Hacking Someone else account / misusing password and other private information is punishable under Section 66C of IT Act
3. Making fake account using someone else name aand identity is punishable under section 66 D of IT Act .
4. Posting /sharing / forwarding obscene content is punishable under section 67 of IT Act
- 5 .Posting /sharing / forwarding inappropriate and undesirable content is punishable under section 67A of IT Act
- 6.Posting /sharing / forwarding private pictures / images /videos without permission is punishable under section 67 A , 67B and 66E of IT Act

Considering the grave nature of Cyber crimes and offenses parents are advised to

- 1 Strictly restrict and monitor the screen time and use of internet websites by their children.
  2. Keep your self updated about online frauds and sensitize your child from time to time.
  - 3 .Teach your ward net ethics and deter him /her from divulging any personal information or pictures online on social media groups with strangers or online friends .
- 4 . Engage your ward in offline activities such as painting , music, gardening, cooking or reading so that it is easier for you to limit the screen time.
  - 5 . Keep yourself updated about online class timetable and activities and projects given by the teacher so that you can effectively monitor online activities. In case of slightest doubt, please do not hesitate to talk to the teacher for clarification. Sometimes your instincts and sixth sense can avert major mishap.
  - 6 . If possible, then sit with your child during classes to assess his / her attention span and levels of comprehension . Please do share feedback with the teacher.

As a parent , you are in a better position to monitor and discipline your ward as compared to the online teacher, therefore your valuable feedback and support is vital to ensure safety of Our children in Virtual classrooms.

Soliciting your cooperation and support
