BBPSDW SDG CONGRESS 2021

“Everything depends on our ability to sustainably inhabit this earth, and true sustainability will require us all to change our way of thinking on how we take from the earth and how we give back.”

-Deb Haaland

At the heart of education lies the vision to carve out a better world by shaping young minds and inculcating in them the knowledge and skills to make a global impact. At BBPS, we promote a culture of inquisitiveness and innovation by providing learners adequate exposure to contemporary economic, political and environmental issues and according them a platform to voice their opinions and offer relevant ideas to tackle them. The school has been collaborating with institutions of learning from all over the world to develop a deeper understanding, create sensitisation and share best practices of advocacy for 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), adopted by United Nations. Solidifying our commitment towards nurturing a conscientious outlook towards dominant global concerns such as gender equality, reduced inequalities, clean energy, etc, the school introduced SDG Congress.

The event accorded an opportunity to learners to hone their academic as well as elocutionary skill by encouraging them to meticulously research about pertinent topics and present cohesive papers with an insight into possible solutions. A student led initiative, SDG Congress proved to be a congenial environment for budding scholars from all over the country to share their ingenious inputs and engage in constructive peer discussions. Over a hundred transformative designs were brought to the table with verve and enthusiasm, making the event a monumental success. The stupendous response has further paved the way for stimulating and empowering symposiums in the future, enabling us to foster a dynamic space where bright minds teeming with novel ideas shall find a fitting outlet.

FEEDBACK BY CHAIRPERSONS

As the chairperson of SDG 3 committee, I had a deeply enriching experience. The delegates of that committee were from classes 6-9 and possessed ideas that were thoughtful and innovative. Their confidence was high and they were enthusiastic listeners. The congress was a huge success owing to the curiosity and creativity of the participants

SDG congress proved to be a pivotal learning adventure for me. Budding researchers were so well informed about the topic and I got to witness remarkable zeal and certitude in young students.

The ideas I listened to were perceptive and farsighted and sparked productive conversations.

FEEDBACK BY PANELISTS

The first edition of SDG Congress was a milestone in terms of the stage it offered to allow students to immerse in dialogue. All the organizers, Chairperson and Vice-Chairperson, etc. were brilliant.

As a Panelist, I must say that all participants presented excellent papers and left everyone impressed with their commitment and enthusiasm.

Firstly, I would like to thank BBPS for organizing this event. Secondly, I must congratulate the EB for doing an amazing job! Be it answering queries promptly from the very beginning, to encouraging all the delegates during the committee. This entire event was extremely well-organized. I am looking forward to many more such fruitful sessions. Thank you for giving me the privilege of being a panelist.

VOTE OF THANKS

SDG Congress, organised by BBPS DW, was a unique endeavour which turned out to be a grand success. As an educator and mentor, it was thrilling to see our learners participate in intellectually stimulating discourses and emerge as able academicians and orators. I am highly thankful to the Chief Guest, Ms Nita Ganguly, Guest of Honour Mr Manoj Saxena and all the panelists and judges for gracing the occasion, sharing their valuable suggestions and motivating students through their kind words. The vigour and dedication displayed by the participants has filled us with inspiration to organise such novel events with renewed energy in the future. We look forward to enriching sessions in the forthcoming year.
