

THE INSPIRING ROOTS

AN OLD BAL BHARATIAN ASSOCIATION INITIATIVE

The fairest thing in nature, a flower, still has its roots in earth and manure.”

~D. H. Lawrence

Bal Bharati Public School, Dwarka is immensely proud of its distinct lineage and glorious legacy. As the school celebrates the luminous milestone of 25 years of educational excellence, it continues to deepen its bond with the values of humanitarianism, inclusivity, universalism, and reverence for knowledge. Our success in imparting holistic education, in correspondence with the demands of the contemporary era, is best reflected in our alumni who continue to uphold the ethos espoused by the school. Young adults graduating from the ramparts of BBPS, Dwarka have made noteworthy strides in the fields of science & technology, business administration, law, sports, and journalism and have engineered social change at the grassroots level.

As members of the Old Bal Bharati Association (OBBA), our alumni have forged an effective association with their alma mater. Through their expertise and experience, they bring forth an ingenious zeal and transform the school space into a dynamic and collaborative learning environment. A host of alumni initiatives such as workshops, cultural exchanges, and mentoring sessions are undertaken around the year, which provide our learners a wider horizon of practical field experience, equip them with knowledge about emerging career options and allow them to develop an earnest connection with their seniors.

It has been our constant endeavour to foster an environment that promotes social cohesion and teamwork and to cultivate in our learners the seeds of empathy and benevolence. Old Bal Bharati Association (OBBA) serves as a platform for each member of the Bal Bharati fraternity to strengthen their relationship with their peers, educators as well as the institution that helped them blossom into individuals with a refined intellect and moral certitude. We, therefore, encourage all our alumni to come forward, become active members of the forum and discover ways to give back to the community that nurtured them and supported their growth. As Jeff Bridges asserted, “The way to change the world is through individual responsibility and taking thoughtful action in your community.”

It is commonly believed that one's personal growth and development starts at school. The school is a foundation stone in shaping our lives for the better. I am truly grateful to mine for enriching my childhood and nurturing me. I am thankful to my school and my teachers for giving me countless opportunities to learn and grow. The confidence with which I solve my clients' problems can be attributed to the confidence that I gathered in public speaking at school. The values of teamwork and collaboration I bring to my workplace were acquired during my stint at the Interact Club which also introduced me to selfless community service. I am sure that our school will give a similar (and better) exposure to the other students as well. More power to our school and our entire fraternity!

My precious years at Bal Bharati, Dwarka provided me with innumerable opportunities to grow and become a better version of myself. The teachers were like a family, who were always ready to support us no matter what. In my senior years, I was introduced to a lot of educational opportunities such as the investment competition organized by the Wharton Business school. It not only gave me knowledge about the stock markets but also allowed me to explore various career paths related to it. When in grade 11, I was selected as the Deputy Head Boy, it was a matter of pride and joy. It helped me gain confidence, and leadership skills and strengthened my interpersonal skills. Bal Bharati empowered me to find and pursue the best career path based on what I loved. The confidence and exposure BBPS, Dwarka gave helped me get through the paid internship in the Big Four in my second year of BBA. The school is like a family to me and has left a huge impact on my life.

THROUGH THE CORRIDORS OF PRECIOUS MEMORIES

As we bid adieu to each cohort of Bal Bharatians at the end of an academic session, we often ponder what the future holds for our young adventurers off to seek out their destinies. Over the years, our students have left us stupefied with the vigour and dynamism through which they have built a wondrous life for themselves. Interacting and collaborating with our alumni for academic as well as cultural initiatives is a truly rewarding experience, with many of them voluntarily bringing their unique expertise and stories to the table and providing meaningful guidance to their juniors. We consider ourselves fortunate to have witnessed the extraordinary growth our learners have undergone, which is not only reflective of the teachings and morals inculcated in them but also of their allegiance and deference to their teachers and the school at large. Our alumni carry the mantle of representing their alma mater across the globe and they do so with panache.
